

What does it mean to take HACC's fully remote: scheduled Zoom classes?

<https://youtu.be/BgCH85k2vJk>

[A red screen with white text appears on screen reading, "HACC's Fully Remote Classes"]

VOICEOVER:

HACC, Central Pennsylvania's Community College,

[The Zoom icon and a clock icon appear under the text.]

VO:

offers fully remote, scheduled Zoom classes as one learning option for students.

[The text and images disappear and are replaced with text at the top of the screen reading, "What does this mean for you?"]

VO:

What does this mean for you?

[An image of a student on a laptop at home appears under the text.]

VO:

Our fully remote,

[The image is replaced by an image of a class on Zoom.]

VO:

scheduled Zoom classes are a replacement for going to a HACC campus for class.

[The image disappears.]

VO:

For this type of class, you will:

[The Zoom icon and the text, "Attend class live through Zoom" appear on screen.]

VO:

Attend class live through Zoom, a video communication tool

[Under that, a clock icon and the text, "Meet during scheduled class times" appear on screen.]

VO:

Meet during scheduled class times

[Under that, a laptop icon and the text "Interact through chat and video" appear on screen.]

VO:

And interact through chat and video with your instructor and classmates. None of your classes or exams will take place on campus.

[The icons and text disappear and an image of a class selection appears on screen.]

VO:

When registering for classes, this class option will be described as “Remote Instruction” as shown in the example here.

[The image disappears and the HACC logo and text appears on screen, “For more details on each course instruction offering, please visit: hacc.edu/ClassOptions” and “Ultimately YOURS.” is in the bottom right.]

VO:

At HACC, we have various learning options that work for you! Please visit hacc.edu/ClassOptions.
